FILIPINO BILLS WOULD STOP ALL LABOR RECRUITS

Philippine officials have come strong praise for the labor-recruiting system.

In the February number of the Mid-Pacific Magazine, W. Cameron Forbes, ex-governor of the Philippines, says in his article on "The Progressive Philippines":

"That the Malay will work, that he will work hard and that he will work well is proved beyond the peradventure of doubt, many statements and many beliefs to the contrary notwithstanding. The experience of the government has been that it gets excellent results from these laborers and, though objections have been raised to emigration of Filipinos to Hawaii, the lesson taught by this emigration can be made one of the greatest possible assets to us in that it has demonstrated in a fair field, with no favor, under the same conditions and equal circumstances, that the Filipino works as well as the Japanese or Korean. Ask the manager of the street railway, ask the manager of the steam railroads in Luzon, ask the directors of the big manufacturing concerns of the government, and you will receive in each case a strong endorsement of the Filipino as a laborer, and one that will demonstrate that employers of labor are in many ways better off there than in the United States; their costs are less."

For several years there have been abortive attempts on the part of Filipino politicians to block the work of the Hawaiian planters' agencies. It is said that the bills now in the assembly represent the most organized and serious attempt of this kind. The measures, or a combination measure, should be reported out within a day or two either with favorable or unfavorable committee action.

Morning on 'CHANGE

The news of another advance in sugar to 4.265 gave further impetus to the rising movement in stocks and there were some comparatively large advances. Stocks are now at their highest point for many weeks. No official news of the development that brought on the rise in sugar has been received, but it is known at the plantation agencies that there is a shortage of vessels to carry Cuban crops. This is thought to be important but not the only factor in the situation. It is still believed by some that foreign buying, probably by England, has been heavy.

In response to the high cable Oahu Sugar, H. C. & S. Pioneer, McBryde, Honokaa and Onomea went up. The biggest gain was in Oahu Sugar, which was up 1/4 on several large sales; 200 Honokaa sold at 5, an advance of 1/2; H. C. & S. touched the 34 mark. McBryde went up to 6 1/4, and Pioneer was 2 1/4 on transactions aggregating 250 shares; 95 1/4 was bid for Waiwala. The last sale was at 9 1/4.

Oahu Railway made another advance, going to 135.

CARNIVAL DAY AT AD CLUB TOMORROW

Carnival day is the feature of the Ad club luncheon tomorrow. Director Dougherty will be there, President E. H. Paris of the Carnival company will be on hand and among the other honored guests will be United States Senator-elect Harding of Ohio.

It is expected that a bumper house will be in attendance to hear what's doing and to be done carnival week, and also to get a line on what the Ad club can do to help the good work along.

Vice-President Levenson has arranged for the Ad club smile to be handed around and there will be music by Kumalee's Fair contest quintet.

U. S. GRAND JURY BEGINS SESSION NEXT MONDAY

The federal grand jury will be called into session Monday morning and begin work on several cases now pending on the calendar. According to the district attorney, the session will last probably a week. The members of the petit jury have been excused until March 1.

"A large number of the defendants who will be brought before the grand jury will want to plead guilty," said District Attorney McCann. "These cases will be disposed of at once."

While the nature of the cases which will be taken up at the session is not known, there are several opium cases and one or two statutory cases which were bound over by the commissioner for grand jury investigation. The docket is said to be an unusually large one.

The jurors living on Hawaii should arrive in Honolulu early Monday morning. These, with those from Honolulu, will make up the body of 16 men to begin work at once.

Action was taken before Judge Dole today to clear the calendar of a number of old cases and pave the way for the grand jury. James F. Field will plead guilty tomorrow morning to a liquor charge. The district attorney will recommend the minimum sentence of 30 days in jail and a fine of $10. The case of John Baker, charged with smuggling opium, may be dismissed. The defendant is known to be away from the territory and is under bond.

The case of D. T. Evans, charged with unlawfully sending Chinese aliens, was retired from the docket pending the apprehension of the defendant. The district attorney said that he will not take up for some time the opium case of George A. Bower. He said that some of the witnesses were not satisfactory to the government and that he did not know whether the case would be tried. The Freeman Sylvester case will be taken up shortly after the session of the grand jury.

SINTON TO FACE GRAND JURY IN MURDER PROBE

Benjamin Sinton will be brought before the territorial grand jury on Thursday when the probe into the murder of William De Freeze, a Coast Artilleryman, will begin.

According to the police Sinton has been confronted with a number of articles of clothing covered with blood stains. He is said to admit that the garments are his property.

Captain McDuffie today received a statement from James McGuire, employed at a Fort street restaurant, that he saw a man much resembling De Freeze under the influence of liquor, staggering along the sidewalk near the corner of Queen and Fort streets about five hours before the crime is believed to have been committed.

His story would indicate that De Freeze and Sinton were at that time together.

Captain McDuffie has learned from M. Heffran, an enlisted man, that he last saw De Freeze alive about 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. He says De Freeze then refused to take a room at a downtown lodging house. Heffran says that he attempted to take care of De Freeze but the latter would not listen to him.

Michael Heffran and V. Beyers, two of the coast artillerymen questioned by the police in the effort to discover the murderer of William De Freeze, resent the statement emanating from the police station that they were taken into custody by the police.

"We were not, as stated, taken to headquarters, questioned and then released," said Heffran last night. "The police auto came down to Fort Armstrong and we were questioned there."

"We saw De Freeze in the Kentucky saloon about 7:30 o'clock and had some drinks with him there. It was said in one of the papers that De Freeze was spending money freely, but such was not the case. He did not spend any at all that I saw."

"I got back to Fort Armstrong about 9:30 and De Freeze was seen alive an hour after that time."

Beyers made a similar statement. He says he arrived back at the post about 2 o'clock Sunday morning and was questioned there by the police. Neither men have any definite clue to the solution of the crime problem.

"What we want to do is to see the records are straight with regard to us. We were in no trouble at all and are doing the best we can to keep out of it," says Beyers.

"SHE IS A GOOD OLD TIMER YET"

"Wichman & Co.—Gentlemen: The number of my Waltham Watch is 4,431,010. I have had it—well, so many years I am ashamed to tell you; but she is a 'good old timer' yet. But I don't mind giving her a rest, just to try the $100 one out a bit! This 'good old timer' of mine was bought in East Pepperell, Mass., by a friend, I think in 1891 or 1892. I got it from him (never mind how!) in 1892 or 3, and have carried it ever since. Since that time it has been put to a terrible test; much of the time having been in shops where the dust was bad and the vibration worse; some of the time 'busting bronchos' on the plains; it has stood the cold of the North and the heat of the South; but has always been ready under any condition to tell me the correct time—and with very little expense for cleaning and repairing."
